28 GRAMS OF GOOD / 56 WAYS TO GIVE

At Social Cannabis Dispensary, we believe in more than just offering exceptional cannabis products—we believe in fostering a culture of collaboration, inclusivity, and community support. That's why we've partnered with Seed & Smith and Blazy Susan to create an exclusive Max Out Bundle Box, blending the best of our brands into one premium experience.

This carefully curated collection is more than just a box of joints; it's a testament to our shared commitment to quality, innovation, and social responsibility. Whether you're a seasoned cannabis enthusiast or new to the journey, this box delivers a selection of expertly crafted products that elevate your experience—while also giving back to the community that supports us all.

Beyond Cannabis: A Box That Gives Back

We know that cannabis is about more than just the product—it's about the people and communities that make this industry thrive. That's why a portion of the proceeds from this collaboration will be donated to Community Food Share, an organization dedicated to fighting hunger.

With 1 in 10 people in our community struggling with food insecurity, including thousands of children, we believe in using our platform to make a real difference. Through this partnership, we're helping provide nutritious food to families in need—because no one should have to choose between a meal and making ends meet.

Join Us in Elevating the Experience

The Social Cannabis Collaboration Box isn't just about great cannabis—it's about bringing people together, celebrating quality, and making a positive impact. Whether you're sharing with friends, enjoying a solo moment of relaxation, or supporting a good cause, this box is designed to enhance every aspect of your cannabis journey.

FOOD SHARE

Working Together To Feed Our Neighbors

Community Food Share is the Feeding America food bank fighting hunger in Boulder and Broomfield Counties. By providing access to fresh, nutritious food through local partners and on-site and mobile pantries we are committed to nourishing our neighbors facing food insecurity.

Hunger remains a significant challenge in Boulder and Broomfield Counties, impacting thousands of individuals and families. 1 in 10 people in the region—41,320 individuals, representing 10.3% of the total population—struggle with food insecurity, lacking consistent access to enough nutritious food to lead active, healthy lives. This burden is particularly heavy on children, with 7,010 children (9.3%) in the two-county area facing food insecurity, or 1 in 12 children.

Additionally, we collaborate with over 40 hunger-relief partners to ensure efficient food distribution across our region. Community Food Share is proud to have served 60,000 people and distributed 13 million pounds of food last year alone!

A portion of the proceeds will be donated to Community Food Share serving Boulder and Broomfield Counties.
